Students at Waddell have learned the power of thankfulness!...

On November 20th students and staff alike came together during their PBIS assembly to celebrate and honor what they are thankful for. Principal Mike Moynihan emphasized being thankful does not mean being thankful for their toys or gifts only, but more so being thankful for the things that matter. "I am thankful for the roof over my head and my wife's delicious brownies," Principal Moynihan announced. Students watched a PowerPoint presentation expressing with their class the things they are thankful for. Ms. Bourbeau's kindergarten class said, "We are thankful for family, friends, food and pets." Mrs. Reinwald's kindergarten class said, "We are thankful for our book buddies in Mrs. Serer's class because they read with us and do fun activities." Mrs. Brown's Fifth grade class spoke of being thankful for the shelter, food, and things that help us live. Following the sharing section the school participated in their monthly PBIS assembly fun dancing to music and celebrating their success. Even Mr. Moynihan joined in the fun!
